CASE NO. 10-19817

ADAM R. GROSSMAN

DEBTOR'S OBJECTION TO TRUSTEE'S
MOTION FOR ORDER AUTHORIZING SALE OF
REAL PROPERTY LOCATED AT 20710
GLENNVIEW DRIVE, COTTONWOOD,
CALIFORNIA FREE AND CLEAR OF LIENS,
INTERESTS AND ENCUMBRANCES
PURSUANT TO SECTION 363 OF THE
BANKRUPTCY CODE

I. Introduction

1. COMES NOW Debtor, pro se, in opposition to the Trustee's motion for order authorizing sale of real property located at 20710 Glennview Drive, Cottonwood, California free and clear pursuant to Section 363 of the Bankruptcy Code.
2. The proposed plan continues the unfortunate pattern of engaging in activity which hurts creditors, the very parties having interests the Trustee has been selected and empowered to protect, far more than it helps them.

- 1 3. The proposed plan continues the unfortunate pattern of destroying wealth and 2 having a seemingly intentional focus on best destroying wealth that could otherwise
3 be available to benefit creditors.
- 4 4. For these same reasons, the plan is expected to the opposed by the Debtor.
- 5 5. For these same reasons, the plan is expected to the supported by the Trustee.
- 6 6. The conflict of interest between the personal interests of the Trustee (incl.
7 professional staff) has now long projected that continued costs will not provide any 8 benefit to creditors yet they continue. This is the definition of a breach of fiduciary 9 duty in which the Trustee places the interests of others before his own personal 10 interest.
- 11 7. Pursuant to F.R.B.P 9024¹ or 11 U.S.C. § 105² or 15 U.S.C. § 78(j)³, or the relevant 12 parts of The Securities and Exchange Act of 1933, Debtor moves the Court to deny 13 the Trustee's Motion. F.R.B.P. 9024 expressly states that it "does not limit the court's 14 power" to issue relief independently. The Court retains its broad powers pursuant to 15 11 U.S.C. § 105.

17 ¹ FRBP Rule 9024 allows for relief for reasons that include, but are not limited to, mistake, inadvertence, 18 surprise, excusable neglect; newly discovered; fraud, misrepresentation, or misconduct by an opposing party; void antecedent judgment; or "any other reason that justifies relief."

19 ² 11 USC § 105 - Power of court.

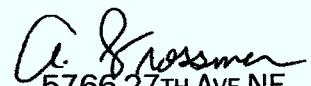

20 (a) The court may issue any order, process, or judgment that is necessary or appropriate... No provision 21 ... shall be construed to preclude the court from, sua sponte, taking any action."

22 (d)(1) shall hold such status conferences as are necessary to further the expeditious and economical 23 resolution of the case; and

(d)(2) unless inconsistent with another provision of this title or with applicable Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure, may issue an order at any such conference prescribing such limitations and conditions as the court deems appropriate to ensure that the case is handled expeditiously and economically...

³ 15 U.S.C. § 78(j), sometimes more commonly referred to by its analogue as "SEC Rule 10(b)-5", prohibits violations of federal anti-fraud securities laws. The laws are very broad.

THE SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE ACT OF 1933
†"in seven weeks"

8. The enactment of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1933 ("The Act") was a bold and courageous decision intended to restore credibility to the markets. For eight decades, it has mitigated the risks from the financial markets for middle-class consumers. It has allowed businesses to grow and to create jobs. It is a pillar of American commerce and industry. It is the foundation of our national economy. It has been the bedrock of our financial system.
9. Debtor moves the Court to address a primary issue permeating the estate: which is the misclassification of over $1/4m of other people's money in a legal proceeding in 2010 which hit the Jurisdictional Trifecta lacking subject matter jurisdiction, geographical jurisdiction, and personal jurisdiction all at the same time.
10. The Court's clear reluctance reflecting a discomfort is understandable. To the extent that a well-reasoned and purposeful leniency underlies the Courts'⁴ inaction, this is commendable to a point. Such a well-reasoned purpose may unduly interfere with the more important purpose of ordering equitable relief for injured parties. When the errors remain uncorrected, the resulting cost is borne by other parties — precisely the people The Act was designed to protect. The intention to cause an insolvency was first announced by Karma Zaike in June, 2010, executed in November, 2010, finalized in December, 2010, not changed in January, 2011.

⁴ Both bankruptcy court and state court.

1 11. The insolvency was disclosed in May, 2011,⁵ and the description remains in the 2 docket and will not go away. It does not only affect super-rich, ultra-high net worth
3 individuals. Inaction will not prevent relief because it is a reporting inevitability.

4 12. The more discomfort the Court may feel, the sooner it should act. Parties who are not
5 present in the court room during these proceedings rely upon those who are to look 6 after their interests. The return of principal, other people's money ["OPM"] that 7 belongs to them, is an equitable necessity.

8 13. Unlike other areas of law, anti-fraud provisions in securities law can apply to 9 attorneys:

10 The mere fact that one party generally may not be entitled to rely on 11 the advice of counsel for another party is an insufficient reason to 12 ignore the statutory rule prohibiting 'any person' — not excepting lawyers — from making material misrepresentations in connection with the sale of securities."⁶

13 14. Investors wait patiently for the return of their principal, to a point, and then react very 14 predictably as was disclosed earlier this year⁷ and described as "typical", "logical",
15 and "inevitable": investors will be paid at 100% without a hair-cut, carve-out, or set-
16 aside; plus interest; including all costs; and without further delay.

19
20 ⁵ Dckt. No. 182-1, p6. 2nd Amended SoFa Q8, filed 5/26/2011. Estimated cost including litigation $580,000 described as "highly variable"; the accounting assumptions included then may not be the most likely accounting elections used. Debtor is not an accountant. Debtor relies upon accountants.

21 ⁶ Rubin V Schottenstein Zox, 1998 Fed App. 0136P (6th Cir). "It would allow an attorney to mislead
22 investors with impunity. We cannot endorse this perverse result. Admission to the bar, if anything, imposes a heightened, not a lessened, requirement of probity." Id. "The misrepresentation... consisted of 23 the legal position of the [defendant law firm's] clients." Verschell v. Pike , 445 N.Y.S.2d 489, 491 (App.
Div. 1981).

The corporate insurance trial centering around Charles R. Schwab, founder and Chairman of The Charles Schwab Corporation ended as most pundits had predicted, but there were several points during the Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. Charles Schwab Bank, and the Charles Schwab Family of Funds.

20-day trial where the unseal subject matter clearly showed this was not just a typical, ordinary, insurance claim proceeding.

The center of the dispute is a fundamental question regarding the nature of property and the equitable rights to $1.8 trillion of assets kept by

Geneva Property

Geneva Property and Casualty Ltd. has maintained that the assets in these accounts are the personal property of Mr. Schwab and must be seized pursuant to his 1993 Reinsurance Collateralization agreement pledging all personal property against an unlikely event such as last year's Loma Linda earthquake in Los Angeles.

"The name 'Charles Schwab' was clearly shown across the top of every statement produced during discovery," said Tina Taker, chief attorney for the insurance giant. "The law is clear. The victims want to rebuild their homes and their lives. They want to move past this tragic event. Ms. Taker continued, "The biggest obstacle preventing this money from being disbursed to help victims of Loma Lama is 'Chuck' himself."

1 18. Karma Zaike, Jennie Laird, and Jill Borodin are among the people including no fewer 2 than six officers of the court who, in coordinated efforts, at different times, agreed in 3 advance and subsequently employed a device, scheme, or artifice to defraud
4 investors⁹ in the Tanager Fund LP.¹⁰

5 19. Shelley Crocker has provided information to oppose the return of property belonging
6 to other people that was incorrectly obtained as a result of clerical error, in violation
7 of controlling investor agreements, and prohibited by governing state law.

8 20. Trustee Ronald G. Brown through his attorney Denise E. Moewes has represented to 9 the Court a fraudulent accounting based upon false information that claims that the 10 Trustee controls "100%" of the ownership interest in the Tanager Fund LP and 11 "100%" ownership interest in the Ptarmigan Fund LLC. These two statements made 12 together for the purpose of establishing ownership, title, or authority, cannot be 13 true.¹¹

14 21. Karma Zaike suborned perjury from her client Jill Borodin on the letterhead of Law
15 Offices of Michael W. Bugni PLLC for the purpose of presenting a false 16 representation related to the purchase or sale of federally regulated securities to 17

18 ⁹ A curious reader interested in confirming the impossibility of the fraudulent accounting may accelerate
19 the process of forensic accounting by proceeding directly to account statements for the Tanager Fund LP
20 in May 2010 ending in xxxx-x376 and xxxx-x065 and asked to answer, "Who owned the money on the 21 wire?"

22 ¹⁰ ...and directly or indirectly, undertook a series of actions, or fail to perform actions, using an 23 instrumentality of interstate commerce, by the mail, using wires across state lines, and through the Chicago Board Options Exchange made untrue statements of a material fact and omitted and suppressed statements by others of material fact necessary in order to make the statements made, in the light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading; and did engage in acts, practices, or courses of conduct which operated in connection with the purchase or sale of securities as a fraud or deceit upon the majority of individuals in the present case named as creditors.

1 obtain a fraudulent judgment of $215,009 — a claim covered by D&O insurance and 2 indemnification provisions and, ultimately, borne by investors.

3 IV. Transferred Assets

5 22. Karma Zaike, Kristyna Larch, and Jill Borodin agreed in advance to undertake a
6 series of actions and did commence many of them including actions by Kristyna
7 Larch who through her appointment to the trusted position of Commissioner-In-Fact 8 did execute a grant deed on January 4, 2011, recorded on January 7, 2011, in 9 Shasta County, CA, becoming the immediate transferee of the real property located 10 at 868 Montcrest Dr, Redding CA. (See Appendix 1 for additional details.)

11 V. Financial Statements as Governing Documents

12 23. The governing documents for ownership have traditionally been the financial 13 statements of private companies, which are Sarbanes-Oxley-certified, GAAP-
14 approved, SEC-compliant, and subject to the full force and effect of The Securities
15 and Exchange Act of 1933, as amended, along with public records including court
16 orders issued by a court of competent jurisdiction in proceedings where the owners 17 were a party.

18 24. Claim No. 18-2, March 27, 2012, describes in detail why it is fraudulent to classify a 19 100% interest of the Glenview Dr. property free and clear as belonging to the 20 estate. It also explains why the Trustee's attorney's testimony, "Montcrest is not part 21 of the estate" is coincidentally true — albeit for accidental reasons unknown to her at 22 the time of the testimony. Even a broken clock is correct twice each day.

1 25. With some fear of sounding like a broken record, having started 2010, with an
2 interest of 170,637 capital units in the Tanager Fund LP as shown on the 2009 CPA-
3 prepared K-1's, there was simply no possible way to have ended 2010 with 4 $484,000 of real estate purchased using the proceeds from the redemption of this 5 interest as Karma Zaike and Jill Borodin have continued to fraudulently maintain. In 6 2010, the unit price started at $1.3209/unit and closed at $1.2499/unit. At no
7 point did the price reach a level where 170,637 capital units was ever worth
8 $484,000. Since the general partner had announced the closing of the Fund with 9 advance notice, there were no deposits to the capital accounts of any partner in 10 2010. (See Appendix 4)

11 VI. Clawbacks: Partnership Resolution of Losses

12 26. The set-aside requirements for any liquidating partner, receivership, or trustee 13 wishing to qualify for the safe harbor provisions¹² limiting personal liability are very 14 simple and there are three of them: (i) pay creditors before investors; (ii) set aside
15 enough money for expected creditor claims — both known and unknown — with a 10-16 year look ahead; and (iii) pay investors last and in proportion or however else 17 specified by partnership agreement and applicable state law.

18 27. If the Tanager Fund LP incurred unaccounted for losses subsequent to paying all 19 partners equally proportionally, partners who redeemed at an incorrect, higher,
20 earlier price will have their excess distribution "clawed-back" so that all partners 21 receive in the end the same proportional return on their investment.

VIII. Appendix 1: The "Secret Deed"

30. First State Court Report. Karma Zaike was on January 12, 2011, ordered by King County Commissioner Isaak Pomeranchuk to contact trustee Ronald Brown, inform him of the state court order that was validly entered into the King County image scanners, "obtain information from the bankruptcy trustee" that the state court had full jurisdiction over the California property, and that Debtor could lawfully execute a transfer deed post-petition, without authority of the bankruptcy court, and for no consideration which was intended to serve as a "back-up" solution in the event that staff at the Shasta County Recorder's office ever rejected the deed executed by Kristyna Larch and recorded January 7, 2011, for the reason that the Washington had not granted her the required authority to execute California deeds on behalf of Delaware companies. (See Appendix 2)

31. Karma L. Zaike pursuant to a court order directing her to seek the opinion of trustee Ronald Brown, on or before January 26, 2011, reported that she had contacted him to obtain his opinion regarding the authority of the state court to order the transfer¹³ of real property Karma Zaike was ordered to report the Trustee's answer to the state court and relayed that Ronald Brown had not been able to inform her whether he would authorize the transfer. Karma Zaike particularly noted helpful details for the benefit of the court regarding their communication including that Ronald Brown in response to the question was able to locate the case file, or recall it from memory, in

3 32. Second State Court Report. Adam R. Grossman was then ordered by the state court
4 which to seek out the opinion of the trustee Ronald Brown. On February 1, 2011,
5 Adam Grossman arranged a telephone conference call with Ronald Brown who had,
6 in the intervening days, sought legal advice to assist in rendering an opinion for the 7 legal question. The telephone conference was for the agreed-upon purpose of 8 obtaining the opinion of the trustee to report back to the state court as ordered. The 9 parties' attorneys participated in the open conference call regarding legal issues and 10 at the time neither Ronald Brown nor Denice Moewes was then willing to authorize 11 the transfer of property nor provide a written opinion to the state court.

12 33. On February 3, 2011, Adam R. Grossman did file under "Supplemental Declaration"
13 with the King County Superior Court, Case #09-3-02955-9, February 3, 2011, two 14 signed descriptions of the opinion of the trustee as directed by the court. One said in 15 part, " 'I don't know if state court has authority to impose [any] judgments' 'You can't 16 transfer property without approval... from us.' 'I don't think the state court has 17 jurisdiction to do it' "; the other said in part, " '...the general opinion that you no 18 longer have any authority', 'do not have authority... other than to buy gas and 19 groceries' and 'Mr. Brown and Ms. Moewes were not then willing to authorize you to 20 perform acts authorized by the state.' " (See Appendix 3)

12 Re: Your Chapter 11 Bankruptcy, case no. 10-19817-SJS

13 Sent via email to: arg@adamreedgrossman.com

14 Dear Adam,

15 You are no longer the trustee of your bankruptcy case as a result of the court order dated December 22, 2010 appointing a trustee (Mr. Ronald Brown; see attached) over your estate.

16 As you will remember, your ex-wife petitioned the court on October 22, 2010 to have a trustee appointed in your chapter 11 bankruptcy case.

17 Mr. Brown moved the Court to have an attorney appointed to represent him and Denise E. Moewes was appointed by the Court on Jan. 31, 2010 (see attached).

18 During a phone conference on Tuesday, February 1, 2011, between myself, you, Mr. Brown and Ms. Moewes, both Mr. Brown and Ms. Moewes provided the general opinion that you no longer have any authority to execute deeds or transfer assets. I am sure you remember them saying that you do not have authority to do "anything" other than to buy gas, groceries, and things of that nature.

19 Mr. Brown and Ms. Moewes were not then willing to authorize you to perform acts ordered by the state court and Ms. Moewes said that she needed time for further investigation to be able to provide more specific answers for whether and how you can comply with these orders consistent with bankruptcy law as applied to your case. I have not yet heard from Ms. Moewes regarding her findings.

20 I believe a realistic time frame for receiving those answers from Mr. Brown and Ms. Moewes is some time next week (perhaps February 7-11, 2011).

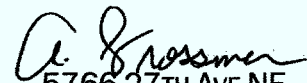

21 Finally, it seems a bit incongruous that your ex-wife moved for the appointment of a chapter 11 trustee and now is unhappy with that fact that you are not able to transfer property because you have a chapter 11 trustee. Go figure.

22 Sincerely,

23

Since the last hearing, the earliest time I was able to schedule any meeting with Ron Brown, trustee, Denice Moewes, Matthew O'Conner, and myself was Tuesday, February 1. I was available at any time. The four of us spoke by telephone conferencing.

According to my notes from the conference call, which may have errors, Mr. Brown or Ms. Moewes said:

- Ms. Moewes said she needs to look into these issues and will get back to Mr. O'Conner and me Wednesday afternoon [Feb 2] which I believe is likely Thursday at the earliest.
- Overall, they reported I generally have no authority to do anything.
- "You can't transfer property. You cannot release liens. You can't sell, refinance, dispose, rent, sign any contract without approval through Mr. O'Conner from us."
- "I don't think the [state] court has jurisdiction to do it."

- "I don't know if state court has authority to impose [any] judgments."
- All subject to... "I need to investigate and get back to you."
- [The court cannot order a bank to perform an action, such as approving a loan or removing a cosignatory from a loan, if it is not party to an action. -Adam Grossman rephrasing]

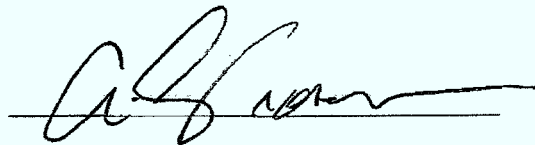

Attached is my attorney's recollection of their positions in the meeting. See Exhibit 1.

I respectfully request a continuance of two weeks since opposing counsel was unable to obtain any material information when ordered by the court and I have tried, and report some preliminary information, regarding what I am and am not authorized to do regarding my open bankruptcy case without violating the law. In fact, I was mildly rebuked for my too frequent contact with the trustee and requests for information.

I again remind the court that Petitioner requested the appointment of a trustee, which I opposed, thereby creating the delays of which Petitioner now complains.

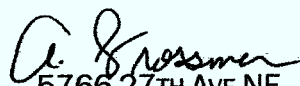

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of Washington that the foregoing statements are true and correct to the best of my knowledge.

Dated this 2nd day of February, 2011, in Seattle, Washington.

Accounting Issue #3

Follow The Money

An accurate accounting of funds that exactly matches the Superior Court's decree is not possible but the reconciling of accounting entries in accordance with the Superior Court's decree is illustrative. The 2009 K-1's for all accounts owned by my family are shown on our tax returns and have been disclosed to the court as have been the internal records that are consistent with the those K-1's. Excluding the children's accounts having very little relative value and were ordered by the court to remain untouched, the entire sum of all community property units (and separate property units -- there were none) in the Tanager Fund held directly or indirectly through a business entity was 170,637 capital units at the end of 2009. There was no other source of community property that I could have converted into community property units, there is no other way to create community property units except via gift which I did not then do, and there were not deposits of community property during the year. At the beginning of the 2010, our starting balance was therefore 170,637 units.

Effective Date	Asset	Units	Total Units
2009-12-31	Ending 2009 K-1's	170,637	170,637

The Superior Court by decree stated that on May 20, 2010, I purchased the property located at 20710 using community property money. The purchase price was $255,000 and the wire specifically cited by the court as community property money was for $255,000. Based on the then unit price, this required a redemption of 265,808 capital units and even if no other distributions had been requested and paid, which there were, and with no deposits we only had enough units to purchase a 64.20% interest in the house using Partnership owned units for the remaining 35.6% interest in the house. This used up all of our capital units.

2010-05-31	Glennview Dr (64.20% Interest)	-170,637	0

That was all we could buy and Superior Court decreed that we bought it. As a result, we did not have the units to be able to purchase even this house with community property (64.2% interest along side Partnership) and no other purchases could have been made such as community property,
